MASS MEETING AT OPERA HOUSE

For Change of Form of City Government---Resolution to Submit Matter to Electorate

LARGE CROWD DESPITE RAIN

Interesting Addresses Delivered by H. H. Rumble, Norfolk; H. G. Otis of New York.---All spoke in Glowing Terms of City Manager Plan.

Three speakers last night delivered addresses at a mass meeting in the Opera House under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce in the interest of a change in the city form of government after which a permanent organization was effected to arrange for submitting the matter to the electorate of the city in the near future. Officers chosen were James R. Caton, chairman; William P. Woolls, secretary.

The nominations for permanent officers were named by a nominating committee appointed by James R Caton, who was temporary chairman, as follows: Claude W. Fletcher, C. E. Dare, Gardner L. Boothe, Richard Mc Green and E. E. Downham.

James R. Caton Presides

The meeting was called to order by James R. Caton, who expressed appreciation at the large attendance despite weather conditions. At the conclusion of the addresses Claude W. Fletcher offered a resolution that a permanent organization be affected by the election of an executive committee of eleven and a chairman and secretary, and that this committee arrange to have the matter of securing for the city a change of government to the city manager plan.

Leo P. Harlow moved that the resolution be amended so as to read or some other suitable plan, by striking out the word city manager plan. His motion was carried and the resolution adopted. This committee may recommend whatever form of government they may deem best when the petitions are circulated.

Compliments Chamber of Commerce

The first speaker was H. H. Rumble, Norfolk, Va., The speaker said that two agreeable surprises were given him on his first arrival here. One was the remarkable growth of the city and the other was the size of the audience despite weather conditions. He congratulated the city on having an up-to-date Chamber of Commerce. Such an institution he said is absolutely essential. It furnished an organization for carrying forward and putting over any measure for public advancement.

Continuing he said in part: "I am here to talk to you in an informal way. I have found that the chief opposition to the city manager plan comes from lack of information as to what it is and what it can do. I am not familiar with conditions here but assume that it is neither better or worse than the old form of city government.

Defects of Old System

I shall deal only with the defects of the old system, and defects it surely has. Municipal government has long been recognized as a weak spot.

Failure does not, however, necessarily mean that the governments are corrupt. I don't believe the public gets all it could under the system. Aside from matters pretaining to city ordinances etc., the time of a council is expended in comparatively trivial matters. The best form of government is that which provides for handling its administrative features.

The city manager plan provides the best system in existence. The old system is founded on distrust and suspicion, resulting in an interlacing and overlapping of responsibility that it is well nigh impossible to put the hand on one solely responsible for any particular thing.

The speaker then explained the commission form of government.

Abolition of Ward System

Under it he said all powers of the city except the functions of the police court are lodged with five members who constitute the only elective officers of the city and are paid.

Continuing he said: The advantages that appear on the surface include abolition of the ward system.

Regarding city council he said we should bear in mind that city council is not a great legislative body, It is there to transact business.

A small body gets its work done. Under the new form you will have no mayor and no veto power the mayor being recognized only for ceremonial and serving legal processes.

The mayor of Parkersburg, W. Va., he said had told him that a matter which for thirteen years had been before common council was settled in thirty minutes without oratory by the new plan of city government.

"OVER THE TOP"

On the eight of last October,
We started a drive on a hill.
With troops that were tired and hungry,
We fought them to capture or kill.
It was in the Argonne Forest,
Where the shells were falling around
I saw my poor comrade was wounded,
Lying with his face on the ground.
As I leaned on my trusty rifle,
I turned the poor boy over on his side.
With a shivering lip I heard the poor boy whisper,
Tell Mother that I was true until I died.
Through the treetops the cold wind was whistling,
And with cold chilled to my bones.
As I turned to my poor dying comrade
He said good by old boy I am gone.
Over the top we went tired and hungry,
Tho those Scoundrels we crushed with a Bound.
For the stars in old Glory like Heaven,
There is no Nation that can pull them down.
Oh! the night was cold dark and dreary,
The cold north rain falling fast.
The orders came down from the Major,
Oh! we have gained our objective at last.
It was the last night that we stayed in the trenches,
Old "A" Company was growing small.
I raised my eyes toward Heaven,
And said Lord I have lived through it all.

PYTHIAN CARNIVAL

A Great Success and Will be Continued Another Week.

The free charity carnival under the auspices of the local lodge of the Knights of Ppthias, of which Lambert Sullivan is chairman, has been an unprecedented success, far exceeding expectations both from a financial and pleasure giving standpoint.

Baggett's field where the carnival has nightly been thronged with a joyous multitude, taking in the various shows, rides and other amusement devices, as well as drinking in the really classical music of Professor DeAmato's Imperial Band. Professor De Amato and his band has but recently returned from Italy, after being mustered out of the military service.

This band has had especial mention, a number of times not only for the quality of their music, but also for bravery under fire.

The Quincy's Tom and Mae, who give the free performance twice daily, are stars in their line, Tom being recognized as the world's most accomplished high diver and Miss Mae as the most beauptiful and shapely fancy diver.

They perform twice daily afternoon and night and are thrilling and astounding the natives with their daring and prowess.

A big new wild animal show is to be added next week consisting of lions, leopards, bears and other animals and is sure to prove popular as well as thrilling.

The ever popular "Flying Jenny" and ferris wheel are very much in evidence and are delighting the children, some of them grown up.

All of the shows are meritorious and are being well patronized and the charity fund of the Pythians are going to add a tidy sum to their account.

All they need now is good weather and the loyal support of all Pythians and their friends to make this the biggest and most profitable event in their history.

Put your shoulder to the wheel, Baggett's field, all week. April 14 to 19.

W. H. OEHLERT GETS NEW TRIAL

Judge Chichester Sets Aside Verdict of Jury Last Week

WANTS TO GIVE BAIL

New Trial Will Begin May 9th—Prisoner Visibly Affected—Refuses Jury From Another Place.

Judge R. H. L. Chichester today heard the argument of Edmund Burke, counsel for Wm. H. Oehlert, convicted of shooting and killing Linwood Kidwell, for a new trial in which Mr. Burke moved that the venire facias be quashed, the verdict of the jury set aside as contrary to the law and evidence, and judgment arrested.

Mr. Burke contended that the venire facias had been issued by Judge Barley, who was unable to sit at the trial of the case. The venire facias was an essential part of a trial, and that, inasmuch as Judge Barley was unable to preside and the Governor had designated another judge to conduct the case,, the latter should have ordered the issuance of the writ, not Judge Barley, who should have taken no part in the case.

Mr. Burke said Judge Barley should not take one part and another judge another. Counsel also took exceptions to an alleged omission in instructions to the jury as

HAS REACHED AN AGREEMENT

Lloyd George's Secretary Says German Envoys Soon Will be Called

QUESTIONS SETTLED

Italy's Claims on Adriatic Coast Apparently Deferred.—Germans Will Be Called Soon.

Paris, April 12.—The Peace Conference has reached an agreement on all questions concerning peace with Germany, reparations, indemnities and the frontiers of the Rhine and Poland, according to an interview in the Petit Journal with the private secretary of Premier Lloyd George. Certain details remained and it is added they will be settled in two or three days.

The German delegates will be summoned to Versailles within two or three weeks.

The British Premier, his secretary is quoted as saying, thinks that if the Allies agree as well at present as during the war the achievements of the Peace Conference will be lasting and numerous dangers, including Bolshevism, will be averted.

Between the session of the Council of Four yesterday afternoon at the Paris "White House" and the plenary session of the Peace Conference this afternoon President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson entertained Queen Marie of Roumania at luncheon.

The Paris dispatch contains the first report that the important questions of the Rhine and Polish frontiers had been settled by the Peace Conference. Agreement on reparations and indemnities was announced earlier in the week.

The Rhine question includes the future not only of the river itself, but also of the German territory west of the Rhine from Lorraine north to the border of Holland. It also affects the eastern bank of the Rhine and its use for military purposes.

The Polish frontiers affect all the countries bordering on the new Poland, and the proposal to give Poland an outlet to the Baltic by way of Danzig.

Apparently the question of the Adriatic and Italian claims on the eastern shore of that sea still is in abeyance. The Adriatic problem does not concern Germany primarily as the territory involved was formerly included in the Austro-Hungarian empire.

J. McKenna, American consul to Zurich, and family, and a number of other diplomatic representatives. Several Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and Red Cross workers are also sailing.

ADDS $65,000,000 TO PAYROLL

Engineers, Firemen, Trainmen and Conductors Given Another Wage Increase

$822,311,000 IN A YEAR

Total Yearly Wage Expense of American Roads is Nearly $3,000,000,000

Wage advances aggregating $65,000,000 were ordered yesterday by Director-General Hines for 400,000 railroad engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors in both passenger and freight service—members of the "Big Four" railway brotherhoods—retroactive since January 1, 1919. The brotherhood demands for time and a half pay for overtime was granted only for men engaged in yard service and for the others this question was referred to the Railroad Administration's board of adjustment No. 1 already created for consideration of disputes relating to railway trainmen and enginemen.

Th increases were arranged according to a contemplated schedule, one of the aims of which was to restore the wage relationship existing before the railroad's increase in wages last year. The average advance in pay per man per year will be about $160.

This action practically completed the war cycle of wage increases granted railroad men since the Government took over management of the roads 15 months ago. Only a few more requests for more pay remain to be acted upon.

Including today's order, the aggregate pay increases allowed by the Railroad Administration to the 2,000,000 railroad employes is at the rate of $822,311,000 a year, more than $400 average per man. Thus the total payroll of America's railroads is raised nearly to $3,000,000,000 a year from the basis of approximately $2,000,000,000 on January 1, 1918, when the roads passed into the Government hands.

The $65,000,000 added to the payrolls of members of the "big four" brotherhoods brings the total granted this class of employes in the last three years to approximately $275,000,000, or approximately $690 per man. This takes into consideration the $140,000,000, estimated as the brotherhood's share of the general wage increase last year and $70,000,000 estimated as the fruit for these men from the Adamson act which established a basic eight-hour day, but did not put into effect the brotherhood's pleas for time and a half for overtime.

Back pay for work since January 1 will be given the brotherhood men as soon as railway paymasters can work out the amount due. This may take a month or even more to complete.

RELIC OF THE PAST

There was great rejoicing in Virginia fifty years ago Thursday when the telegraph wires brought the news that the House of Representatives had promptly passed a bill giving the President the power to call a State election in Virginia, and to submit the constitution to a vote of the people with a separate vote on its obnoxious features among them clauses which virtually disfranchised the bulk of the male population of the Old Dominion.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch in reproducing the articles from its file of half a century ago calls attention to the fact that many good things were said about President Grant, on whose recommendation the House took this action. While rejoicing was in progress in Richmond General Henry A. Wise passed along on his way home. The crowd cheered as he approached and called on him for a speech. General Wise, standing on the sidewalk, responded briefly and said that was all Virginia wanted—a fair chance to do the right thing. He eulogized the President and said, "that man Grant is Virginia's friend, and we can trust him. General Lee trusted him and has not been disappointed."

Virginia was given a chance, and the election during the summer of 1869 resulted in the sweeping from power of carpetbaggers who had captured the state after the close of the civil war.

WOULD REDISTRICT STATE

The question of redistricting the State according to population for representation in the General Assembly, a measure required by the Constitution to have been done in 1912, but which failed of action by the Senate, probably will be an important one before the next session, according to Richmond gossip.

Numerous protests have been voiced throughout the State against the alleged inequality of respresentation in the Legislature, and there is widespread demand that the Assembly of 1920 get together and smooth these out.

The House of Delegates has, under constitutional provision, a membership of 100, or a delegate for approximately every 20,000 citizens. To keep the representation equally distributed, the Constitution provides that the Legislature shall, beginning in 1912, redistrict the State every ten years. Such a bill passed the House in the year named, but failed in the Senate.

Protests are made that Tazewell and Buchanan counties, with a combined population of between 50,000 and 60,000, have one delegate in the law making body by the county of Appomattox which has only 8,000 citizens.

Wise and Dickenson counties have a population of about 50,000, and have one delegate. Yet Fauquier and Loudoun counties, comprising a population of less than 80,000, have three, one for each country and a floating delegate. Many other inequalities too numerous to mention, are pointed out by tohse who think the Legislature should take action at the next session.

CHANGE IN THEIR DREAMS

Chancellor Scheidemann in an addresses assembly on Germany's future foreign policy a day or two ago said the policy would be based on three principles: Strict observance of all treaties, unswerving protection of vital German interests, and maintenance of a spirit of unreserved conciliation with the entire world.

"We want an equal reapproachment with all peoples" the chancellor continued, "not a fresh division of the world into alliances and groups which at a dangerus moment go off like loaded rifles. We can not allow Russia to use force upon us in shaping our internal affairs. But if Russia renounces forceful propaganda of bolshevism, we would gladly extend a brotherly hand to the Russian people.

"As regards, France, Germany desires conciliation. When we press for a plebiscite in Alsace-Lorraine, it is not in the silent hope of nullifying a point in President Wilson's program, but in order forever to remove ideas of revenge or fresh accusations of oppression."

USE FOR DISTILLERIES

An antiprohibition orator was speaking to a gathering of farmers in one of the Western States recently. He asked them what they would do with their surplus corn if the distilleries were closed. The reply came from a man in the audience: "We will raise more hogs and less hell." And now it is sugar instead of hogs.

Certain distilling companies in Illinois, that are no longer permitted to manufacture whisky, will utilize the distilleries for manufacturing sugar. Chemists have been employed and a method of producing sugar from corn has been discovered and a new industry promised.

BOSSED THE TRAMPS

Rev. John Cavnaugh, former pastor of the Free Methodist Church in Alexandria, is now stationed in Port Jervis, N. Y. Occasionally newspapers in places where the itinerant preacher locates publish articles concerning him and his work, and Mr. Cavnaugh almost invariably sends copies to the Gazette in order that they may be reproduced in the city where he is probably better known than elsewhere, having labored here and in Washington at times during more than forty years. He was born in Richmond and in his early years served as bugler in Stuarts Cavalry, Confederate army. The Union of Port Jervis recently contained the following:

"Who says that hoboes will not work when given a chance? Two members of this cult showed that they wanted to work, when, on Thursday, they accepted a job to clean up a back yard for $8, and they made a good job of it, too, while the Rev. John Cavnaugh acted as overseer and received 50 cents from the "boss" for his part of the work.

"Rev. Cavnaugh was conducting his usual preaching service at the Erie station and among his hearers were the two hoboes, who were looking for work, they said.

"Mr. Cavnaugh offered a prayer for the men and spoke on "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and all these shall be added." He asked the men if they wanted work and they said they did. A salesman nearby heard this and offered to go and get them a job if they would take it. Soon he returned and told the two strangers, who had admitted that they were just tramps, that there was $8 for them if they would clean up a yard, and he asked the preacher to go along and boss the job and said he would give him fifty cents for the trouble, and the dominie accepted to see that his proteges were really in earnest. The two men made a good job of their task and in an hour and a half had earned their money. They then made a bee line for a restaurant to enjoy the fruits of their labors."

BREAKS AIR MAIL RECORD

Leon D. Smith Reaches New York From Here in 1 Hour 58 Minutes

The aero mail plane beat all its previous records for fast flying between Washington and New York yesterday when Pilot Leon D. Smith in a 150-horsepower machine of the Curtiss JN-4 type equipped with a Hispano-Suiza motor, covered the 218 miles in 1 hour and 58 minutes. Smith carried, in addition to a full load of gas, 157 pounds of letter mail. The trip from Washington to Philadelphia, 128 miles, was made in 1 hour and 11 minutes, and the last lap from Philadelphia to Belmont Park, New York, in 47 minutes.

ANTIQUITY OF DECORATIVE ART

PRESERVATION OF SURFACES.

Crude but Effective Processes Employed by the Egyptians and Greeks of Pliny's Day—Noah Prudently Waterproofed the Ark.

Whether paint was invented in answer to a need for a preservative or to meet a desire for beauty is a question fully as knotty as the ancient one about the relative time of arrival of the chicken or the egg. It was invented, though, and it serves both purposes equally; so whether it is an offspring of mother necessity or an adopted son of beauty remains forever a disputed question.

The first men, cowering under the fierce and glaring suns of the biblical countries, constructed rude huts of wood to shelter them. The perishable nature of these structures caused rapid decay, and it is probable that the occupants, seeking some artificial means of preservation, hit upon the pigments of the earth in their search. It is perhaps natural to suppose that it was the instinct of preservation that led men to the search, although the glories of the sunsets and the beauties of the rainbow may have created a desire to imitate those wonders in their own dwellings.

The earliest record of the application of a preservative to a wooden structure dates from the ark, which was, according to the Bible, "pitched within and without." The pitch was a triumph of preservation whatever it lacked as a thing of beauty.

Decoration applied to buildings first comes to light with ancient Babylon, whose walls were covered with representations of hunting scenes and of combat. These were done in red and the method followed was to paint the scene on the bricks at the time of manufacture, assuring permanence by baking. Strictly speaking, this was not painting so much as it was the earliest manifestation of our own familiar kalsomining.

The first Hebrew to mention painting is Moses. In the thirty-third chapter of the book of Numbers he instructs the Israelites, "When ye have passed over the Jordan into the land of Canaan, then shall ye drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you and destroy all their pictures. . . ."

At later periods the Jews adopted many customs of the peoples who successively obtained power over them and in the apocryphal book of the Maccabees is found this allusion to the art of decorating, "For as the master builder of a new house must care for the whole building, but he that undertaketh to set it out and paint it, must seek out things for the adorning thereof."

Although Homer gives credit to a Greek for the discovery of paint, the allusions to it in the books of Moses, the painted mummy cases of the Egyptians and the decorated walls of Babylon and Thebes fix its origin at a period long antecedent to the Grecian era. The walls of Thebes were painted 1,900 years before the coming of Christ and 996 years before "'Omer smote his bloomin' lyre."

The Greeks recognized the value of paint as a preservative and made use of something akin to it on their ships. Pliny writes of the mode of boiling wax and painting ships with it, after which, he continues, "neither the sea, nor the wind, nor the sun can destroy the wood thus protected."

The Romans, being essentially a warlike people, never brought the decoration of buildings to the high plane it had reached with the Greeks. For all that the ruins of Pompeii show many structures whose mural decorations are in fair shape today. The colors used were glaring. A black background was the usual one and the combinations worked thereon red, yellow and blue.

In the early Christian era the use of mosaics for churches somewhat supplanted mural painting. Still, during the reign of Justinian the Church of Saint Sophia was built at Constantinople and its walls were adorned with paintings.

In modern times the uses of paint have come to be as numerous as its myriad shades and tints. Paint is unique in that its name has no synonym and for it there is no substitute material. Bread is the staff of life, but paint is the life of the staff.

No one thinks of the exterior of a wooden building now except in terms of paint coated. Interiors, too, from painted walls and stained furniture down to the lowliest kitchen utensil, all receive their protective covering. Steel, so often associated with cement re-enforcing, is painted before it goes to give solidity to the manufactured stone. The huge girders of the skyscrapers are daubed an ugly but efficient red underneath the surface coat of black. Perhaps the best example of the value of paint on steel is found in the venerable Brooklyn bridge, on which a gang of painters is kept going continually. It is scarce possible to think of a single manufactured article which does not meet paint somewhere in the course of its construction. So has paint grown into the very marrow of our lives.

no instruction concerning the plea of the defense that the shooting was accidental had been submitted by the court, although he (counsel) had prepared the same. After an argument lasting about an hour, Mr. Burke moved that the verdict of the jury be set aside as contrary to law and evidence and judgment arrested.

Howard W. Smith, Commonwealth's Attorney, in a few brief remarks, said the objection to the venire facias had been raised by the counsel for the prisoner at the time and his objection had been overruled by the court; the matter was clerical and, according to present laws, the venire could be summoned as was that of last week. Concerning the instructions to the jury, the twelve men composing the same had heard all the contentions of the defense, and the use of a deadly weapon presumes malice and in their judgment had declared the shooting to be one of involuntary manslaughter.

Judge Chichester, after listening to the arguments presented, concluded to set aside the verdict as against law and evidence, and fixed May 9th as the time the new trial will begin.

Mr. Burke then asked that his client be admitted to bail.

Shortly after the killing of Kidwell counsel for Oehlert had asked that the prisoner be admitted to bail. Judge Barley heard the appeal and fixed the amount at $10,000. Mr. Burke desired that this be reduced.

Judge Chichester fixed the bail at $2,500.

Mr. Burke suggested that Oehlert be allowed to plead guilty to involuntary manslaughter and accept a jail sentence. This was objected to by the Commonwealth's Attorney.

Oehlert sat with his wife and little girl this morning while the arguments were in progress. He wept at times, and when Mr. Burke moved that a jury be summoned from another place, Mrs. Oehlert entered an earnest protest, saying "the people of Alexandria know my husband."

GEORGE'S CANDIDATE

Asquithian Liberal Defeats Lord Eustace Percy by 917 Votes

London, April 12.—The coalition government suffered another heavy defeat, the second since the election of the new parliament in the by-election in the Central Hull district yesterday when Comdr. J. M. Kenworthy, an Asquithian liberal, was elected by a majority of 917 over Lord Eustace Percy, a coalition unionist. The vote was: Kenworthy, 8,616; Lord Percy 7,699.

In the general election last winter Sir Mark Sykes, coalitionist, had a majority of more than 10,00 over his liberal opponent in a vote about 1,000 less than at today's election.

Comdr. Kenworthy was a popular candidate because of his war record, but the coalitionists chose in Lord Percy the strongest man available, and his defeat is a heavy blow t the government, whose policy in many directions Comdr. Kenworthy attacked during the campaign.

The result in Central Hull was the second defeat for the Lloyd George government in three by-elections since the new parliament was elected.

MASS MEETING LAST NIGHT

Cites Examples Elsewhere.

The ward system and its attendant evils is one of the main sources of corruption. However, in giving up the ward lines you do not give up representation. All are elected at large. Under the new system in Des Moines, Iowa, the tax rate was reduced.

The city manager plan is an improved form of commission form of government. Under its plan the councilmen do not give all of their time to the work. In Norfolk they pay a salary of $1,200 annually.

Springfield, O., and other cities were cited by the speaker where the plan is working successfully.

Manager is Responsible

Instead of parceling out offices he said the city manager who is employed by Council does this work. He is responsible to council for an efficient administration of all of the departments. The success of his organization depends on the work and, there fore, he appoints his heads for the various departments. There is no shifting of responsibility, as you know who is responsible.

In Dayton, O., he asserted in the purchase of stationery alone the sum of $4,000 was saved by standardizing the purchases.

Concluding he said that under the modern types you are much more likely to get high class men. You itself and you cannot expect to set itself and you cannot expect to run it in operation and get successful results. Citizens must stand back of it and see that it gets a fair trial and that the best possible citizens are selected to govern it.

H. G. Otis Tells of Work

The next speaker was H. G. Otis, of New York. He stated that he had served as city manager for the past five years in New York state. The speaker who preceded him he said had thoroughly summed up the situation. It is significant he said Staunton, the birth place of President Wilson should be the first city in the country to adopt the city manager plan. City officials he declared are hampered by old time methods.

The city manager he said need not be a local man at the time of his selection.

Mr. Otis was loud in his praise of the new plan. He enumerated various cities where it was successfuliy operated.

Address by Mr. Hodges

Leroy Hodges, secretary to Governor Westmoreland Davis, was the last speaker. Today he said we are face to face to perpetuate a government that is within short arm reach of the people. He said he thought that city government is the government that must allay the unrest that is sweeping over the country today.

Continuing he said: "The present form, is a machine that can't function. I think the opportunities here are not possessed by any other city in the state. The problem is grouped in three divisions. Where are the parks and playgrounds in return for your tax dollars. You must be ready to meet the competition of other cities and the only way to get it is by the new plan.

Proper Machinery Needed

Plans he asserted are nil unless you have the proper machinery, and machinery is your local city government. The present form is antiquated. You have got to keep up the pace. Personnel and machinery are necessary to function properly.

Your obligation does not cease after you elect five councilmen.

Those on Stage.

Occupying seats on the stage in addition to the speakers were James R. Caton, chairman; William P. Woolls, secretary; Alderman John T. Harrison, Councilmen H. R. Burke, E. F. Yicer, L. Ruben, R. Stuart Royer, business manager of the Chamber of Commerce, R. L. Payne, Harry Hammond, Revs. Dr. John Lee Allison, E. B. Jackson, Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester, and Rev. A. E. Speilman.

QUELLS REVOLT SPIRIT

Hungarian Soviet Hangs Leaders And Imprisons Many Rebels

Budapest, April 12.—The Hungarian soviet government, threatened by several revolts, is dealing mercilessly with the leaders.

Two leaders were hanged and two other peasants were sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. Many other arrests are said to be imminent.

Another fight occurred at the village of Fueles between peasants and Red soldiers. There were many casualties. A village priest, suspected of organizing the riot, will be tried by a revolutionary tribunal tomorrow. Several soldiers and workmen who went to the soldiers' aid were killed and many wounded. The peasant leader, Anthony Beeker, as well as another peasant, were condemned to death immediately by a revolutionary tribunal.

A Ruthenian red guard is being organized, similar to the Rumanian red guard, which will cooperate with the Soviets. The gorgeous castle belonging to Prince Festetics has been seized.

Heavy street fighting occurred in Agram, (160 miles southwest of Vienna) when Serbian troops attempted to restore order during a riot which developed in a peasant's mass meeting, a Fiume dispatch reported today. Several radical agitators were arrested.

FIND BODY OF MAN

Bristol Authorities Believe Remains Had Been There for Thirty Days.

Bristol, Va., April 12.—Mystery surrounds the discovery of an unidentified man in one of the many caverns in the Stone Mountain district, by a traveling prospecting party Wednesday. Details received from Mountain City, Tenn., today give a limited description of the man, who is said to have been about thirty yeiars of age.

Authorities stated that he had probably been dead thirty days, and are attempting to establish his identity by communicating with the different army camps in this section, as it is thought he was a deserter. Foul play is suspected.

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As to Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.,—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache and bearing down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then It would last two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till It took three. I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children. Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years,

Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

AGAINST LABOR WAR

Employers and Workers Alike See Danger to Democratic Institutions

That employers and workers alike in Great Britain regard industrial warfare in the light of a danger to democratic civilization there is no doubt. This realization accounts for the substantial hope that permanent machinery will be set up to keep peace in the industrial world Co-operating to this end are capital, labor and government. All that is sane in capital, all that is sane in labor and all that is sane in government are united to defeat extermism in these several elements.

Employers and workers are moving toward an agreement that can receive the sanction of the state. Sober-minded Britains are studying conditions in Russia and Germany and have made up their minds that such conditions shall not come about in Great Britain if energetic, honest efforts can prevent it. Not all the ominous portents have been removed. At the last great industrial conference in London, for example, several powerful labor units were not represented. Among these were the miners, transport workers and engineers.

Even the railway men were officially represented though their greatest figure, James H. Thomas, was on the floor of the conference and at one juncture mounted the platform and eloquently pledged his union not to forget its national obligations. With such men as Thomas, Clynes, Roberts and Henderson setting their faces resolutely against the anti-democrats and wreckers there is a good prospect for the prevalence of reason.

Just now the real menace to industrial peace arises not from an industrial but from a political question or series of questions. Thus far the methods proposed for harmonizing capital and labor under government and parliamentary auspices do not contemplate any scheme of joint control of industry. However, many influential labor men are pressing for such control and they will probably carry their point.

Already the great council of employers and employed has reported unanimously in favor of a universal eight hour day by law, of a scale of minimum wages for universal application of the establishment of a trade board for the less organized trades and of complete trade union recognition and enforcement of the hours and wages agreed on by the trade workers.

This a few years ago would have been called revolution.

GERMAN BRUTALITY

Belgians Ruthlessly Slaughtered and Bodies Trampled Upon

Camp Meade, April 12.—The trials which the Belgians had to go through, how they were shot down by the German machine gunners and the mutilated bodies trampled over by the Hun soldiers is vividly described by Private William K. Wright, who resides near Baltimore.

Private Wright, who operated a machine gun, gives a detailed account of the important part played in the war against Germany.

"It was during one of our first drives in Belgium that I witnessed one of the most horrible and saddest sights of my experience in the war," said Prvate Wright. "We started an offensive on October 30 and it lasted until November 4. During that time I saw the Germans sweep down upon the Belgian people and mow them down like cattle. Nearly every place I walked there was a Belgian riddled with bullets and many of them were decapitated. Babies were torn from their mother's arms and shot down, while helpless peasants met with the same treatment. The German machine gunners showed mercy to none, killing the old thirty years of age.

"These cowardly and unmerciful acts lasted for the first three days of the drive, when we finally stopped the Germans. We got in a position to use our machine guns to great advantage and we let them have it as fast as we could. At the same time, some of the boys bound up the wounds of the injured Belgians. For this treatment I don't believe they will ever forget the Americans, and I know that we will never forget them. We were never treated with more hospitality during the whole time that we were over there, than we were accorded at the hands of these unfortunate people. They would really have given us all of their food. They cried when we departed.

ROME RED STRIKE FAILS

People Mob Spartacans, Crying "Death to Lenine and Trotzky."

Rome., April 12.—A group of men styled Spartacans, carrying a red flag attempted a demonstration here Thursday, but the people attacked the crowd and dispersed it. Several of the Spartacans were hurt and others arrested.

There ensued an enthusiastic demonstration in honor of the army and the victory of the allies. Many cries were heard of "Long live the king" "Long live our Italian Fiume!"

The whole city was beflagged and illuminated at night in celebration of the fiasco of the demonstration planned by the socialists in honor of the German and Russian ultra-radicals Throughout the city there were manifestations by the people in which cries of "Death to Lenine and Trotzky!" were heard. At several points where socialists attempting demonstrations appeared the troops had great difficulty in protecting them from the population.

The crowd made stubborn efforts to reach the offices of the socialist newspaper. Avanti to destroy the plant.

NEGRO ATTACKS FARMER

Aged Virginian in Serious Condition As Result

Cape Charles, Va., April 12.—James C. Core, 70 years old, a farmer residing near Dalby, was murderously assaulted by a negro highwayman on his farm early yesterday morning.

The man was at work in a field when the negro, who was of powerful build, jumped from behind the bushes where he had been hiding and dealt his victim a heavy blow upon the head, using a large pine club. As he raised the weapon a second time the aged man threw up his arm, warding off the blow. He then fell unconscious. His cries for help frightened the negro, who escaped. Mr. Core received an ugly cut, which required 10 stitches. His condition is serious. A posse of armed citizens is searching for the negro.

GRAND THEATRE

With thousands of men and women appearing in the new Paramount photoplay, "Love's Conquest," in support of Lina Cavalieri, the celebrated diva, this is said to be one of the largest picture productions ever made in this country. The picture, which will be shown at the Grand Theatre next Monday night, is in every respect, a remarkable production. Splendidly directed by Edward Jose, form a scenario prepared by C. E. Whittaker, Mme. Cavalieri portrays a role of great power—that of Gismonda, an Athenian duchess, a beautiful widow, who is wooed in vain by many noblemen, who seek to possess themselves of both her riches and jewels. In the portrayal of this role Mme. Cavalieri wears her famous jewels, which long have been a source of amazement and delight to operatic devotees.

Don't forget last episode "Iron Test."

INGOMAR—"Once to Every Man."

"Once to Every Man," at the Ingomar tonight, featuring Mabel Withee and Jack Sherill is a story of a boy who lived in a lumber camp and whose father died from drink. Regarded by all of the villagers as a hopless no account, Jack, true to a promise he made to Mable, his one friend, leads a true and honest life. He conquers all temptation and in the end is able to conquer the village bully. Jack, however, is a real red blooded American and he sacrifices his career as a puglist to become an aviator and he helps to fight his country's battles in France.

RICHMOND—"Fighting Through."

He was not an up to date American. He thought this big country of ours was still divided in two parts—the North and the South. You were either a "damned Yankee" or a Southerner; his flag was the stars and bars and the Stars and Stripes that of an enemy. This mistaken young man was Robert Carr, a grandson of a Confederate Colonel, who had never become reconciled to the defeat of the South.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Elks Lodges Throughout the Country to Co-Operate

The United States government, under a cooperative arrangement with the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, as authorized by act of Congress, has embarked on a program of vocational education which is intended to vocationally train or re-educate every one of its disabled soldiers, sailors and marines without expense to these war heroes.

It has been found that no matter what physical disability a man may have suffered, he can be so trained or re-educated as to overcome the handicap and enjoy the same or greater earning capacity he had before being wounded. There are more than 500 vocations open to these disabled men, and nearly 300 educational institutions of all kinds—technical, commercial, agricultural and trade institutions throughout the country have opened their doors to the work. All expenses for books, tuition and living, with allowances to dependents, are provided.

When the work of putting this vocational education law into effect was begun, it was found that it would be necessary to interest some private agency to make it a complete success. This was because the cases of hundreds of wounded men were still pending before the War Risk Insurance Board and the men themselves were without money to meet living expenses while in vocational training. There were also hundreds disabled or diseased before the law went into effect or for various technical reasons were outside its provisions. In addition to these were the cases of United States citizens who fought in the armies of the Allies and were wounded, while the law provides only for those wounded while fighting with the American forces.

Thus there are many thousands of disabled American soldiers, sailors and marines to be vocationally trained who must be provided for either temporarily or throughout this period of training, by some private agency. The law itself makes provision for a cooperative arrangement of this kind. The Federal Board for Vocational Educatin, in charge of this work, has selected the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, working through the Elks War Relief Commission, for this cooperative assistance. Former Governor John T. Tener, of Pennsylvania, is at the head of the Elks War Relief Commission.

Every Elks Lodge throughout the country has been instructed to appoint a special committee to be known as the Soldiers' Friend Committee, to assist in this work. Its members are instructed to cooperate with the nearest District Office of Education, of which there are fourteen throughout the country, and with the Home Service Section of the American Red Cross. Every wounded hero of the war is to be personally seen and urged to at once take advantage of this offer of free vocational education. Its importance, not only to the disabled men themselves and members of their immediate families, and no less to the nation itself, is at once apparent.
